Greeting from Yoshihiro Kikuchi, MD, PhD, President. Ohki Memorial Kikuchi Cancer Clinic for Women

Most of patients referred to this Clinic from University hospital, National or Regional medical center and/or National or Regional cancer center are suffered from refractory and recurrent cancers after standard chemotherapies.

Refractory cancers show resistance from first treatment and recurrent cancers with response to initial treatment are called resistant. To such cases, tailored or personalized medicine with relatively less adverse effect is necessary.

Thus, in this Clinic effective molecular-targeted drugs are used with alone or anticancer drugs. Recently, patients with response to such treatment and without reaching complete response are treated with immune-check point inhibitors and good results have been obtained.

Results of such treatments have been accepted and presented in American Society for Clinical Oncology (ASCO) held in Chicago, USA, June, every year.

Objective in this Clinic is how treatment to obtain complete response in refractory and resistant cancer should be done. Control of cross-talk between cancer and the surrounding microenvironment is of most importance for this purpose.

Now, cancer patients are almost 50% of all patients in Japan, while complete response in all cancer patients can be expected. Unless getting CR, normal social life with cancer can be done by receiving such cancer treatment.

Containing second opinion, consultation to cancer will be done thoroughly and courteously by experts. Kikuchi Cancer Clinic will be open whenever trouble: phone 090-4251-1144.

Ohki Memorial Kikuchi Cancer Clinic for Women was founded for women suffering from cancer. Purpose of this Clinic is for cancer-bearing women being resistant and/or refractory to prior-treatment.

First, cancer treatment strategies in this Clinic are to treat out-patients without hospitalization.

Second, treatment is done to obtain most effective results with minimum adverse effects.

Third, any patient is satisfactory and pleasant by such treatment in this Clinic.

Even if having unexpected and adverse results, most patients appreciate rather than complain. Everyday, we consult and do the best effort for all patients.
